allow every vehicle to carry passengers that chooses to do so on any street car track and as many opposition lines of cars as ask for a charter. This and only this will ever do. If you pass a law no sent no fare, and let the companies ruo as many cars as they choose, by clubbing together for a week they could freeze out the people so that they would beg for the old system. All they would have to do is to run as few cars as possible for one week and the people would how for the old system the same as they how for a new one now. Opposition is the only thing to give us and plenty of it at that.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

MR. T. J. THOMAS WINS THE LONG ISLAND

The members of the Long Island Shooting Club celebrated Washington's Ricthday in their usual pleasant way. They assembled in force at their grounds, near Jamaica, and indulged in pigeon shooting the better part of the afternoon. By resolution at a meeting held a few days since the day was set apart for the monthly cup competition, and the announcement brought out a large representation. The conditions of this event are seven birds each, 25 yards rise, 1% oz shot, H and T traps, and club rules to govern, the holder of the prize being set back two yards. Nineteen entered the list, these being Messrs. "Atkins," Thomas, Baxter, "Levi," these being Messrs "Atkins," Thomas, Baxter, "Levi," Hartshorn, Wynn, Waiters, Wisner, Chapell, Austin, Ireland, Gildersleeve, Charmon, Valentine, Kobinson, Hemming, Waters, "Judge" and the "Captain." Of these Mr. Robinson stood at 27 yards, he being the previous winner. The cup, after shooting off a tie with Mr. Gildersleeve, was won by Mr. T. J. Thomas, a gentleman, who, though considerably past the meridian of life, still loves all outdoor sports, and is an earnest and enthusiastic advocate of such recreation. His victory, under the circumstances, is very creditable, all the more so as he used but 1 oz shot instead of 1% oz, as allowed under the rules.

Generally the shooting was not up to the usual mark made by the members at the cup contests. Why this should be is difficult to say, though perhaps the superior lot of birds Dexter furnished may in some wise account for it, as there was not a poor pigeon in the number trapped.

SHOOTING AT GLEN DRAKE RANGE.

Owing to the inauspicious character of the weather yesterday the programme prepared by the American ably marred. The numerous spectators who on hold days especially have heretofore proved an inseparable adjunct to shooting matches on this admirably appointed range, were not present yesterday, most of them, doubtless, preferring the comforts of the fireside the penetrating blasts which during the swept over the lower portion of Westchester county at a velocity of about thirty miles per hour. It need hardly be stated that under these circumstances the competing marksmen were not a little disconcerted, and that the shooting was far beintile disconcerted, and that the shooting was lar below the average made by many of the contestants on lormer occasions in fair weather. In the early part of the day some six or eight members of the Soventh regiment, N.G.S.N.Y., made their appearance on the range, and proposed that the officers of the association should, for a pecuniary consideration, permit them to practise at one of the targets, as they did not wish to enter into any of the competitive sports of the say. Their desire to be furnished with an exclusive arget was unheastatingly gratified, but their ofter of compensation for the privilege of using the same as promptly declined. After a couple of hours' shooting the members the Seventh left for New York.

First on the programme was a "subscription match," sistance 300 yards, any rifle; trigger pall, three pounds; position, off hand; five scoring shots; entrance fee, $1. One-half of entrance money to be for the benefit of the association; balance divided between the three highest scorers. Entries not limited. In this match the number of contestants amounted to sixty. The next was an "all comers match," the conditions being similar to the foregoing, excepting that there were seven scoring shots. The prizes consisted of two badges valued respectively at $25 and $15, and another prize valued at $3. There were nineteen entries for this match. The third and last was a "military match," the distance being the same as in the proceeding two; military rifles only, State pattern; trigger pall not less than six pounds; position, off hand; even scoring shots; open to any bona fide member of the National Guard, who must wear uniform when thooting. Entrance fee to members, $1; to others, the National Guard, who must wear uniform we thooting. Entrance fee to members, $1; to othe $1; 50. The prizes in this match wore similar in charter and value to those offered in the "all commatch." There were ten competitors in the "milita match." The Iollowing are the principal sco

RIFLE SHOOTING IN NEW JERSEY.

The first rifle match in Bergen county was shot yes terday at Ridgewood between the teams of the Hacken sack Rifle Association and the Ridgewood Sporting Club, which resulted in a victory for the Hackensackers by a score of 177 to 168. The wind blew half a gale at times, making good shooting difficult. Distance 200 yards, off hand.

ATHLETICS AT HARRY HILL'S.

The birthday of the immortal Washington was com nemorated at Harry Hill's Variety Theatre with an extra afternoon entertainment, at which there was a wowded attendance. The first part of the programme consisted of songs, dances, &c. The athletic portion menced by a wrestling match between Harry Howard and John Barclay. The first round was in the Lancashire style, and was fully contested and won Lancashire style, and was fully contested and won rasily by Howard. The second was in the Greco-Roman style, and resulted in the same way. Two povices then put on the gloves, and had a slogging match. The next event was the great wrestling match between William H. Browning and albert Ellis, both of London. The style was the beyonshire, it being necessary to throw an opponent so that either two shoulders and one hip, or one shoulder and two hips, shall rest squareity on the floor. Hill announced as the men shook hands that "kicking was allowed," and they both took the most ample advantage of this license. Most of the time they were engaged in rasing lumps on each other's shins rather than in struggling mannily for a victory. After half an hour or more of work, during which time they literally tore the clothing off each other's backs and had seven rounds, Browning maily threw Ellis and won the fall. A lively setto followed between Seddons' Mouse and George McCartny, which resulted in the Mouse's lavor. Then make a ratting sail between Jim Glascon and Wilham. Browning and Ellis then renewed their wrestling match, and after three founds they were compelled to lesist, Browning's arm having been severely injured. The most exciting event by far of the occasion was the bout between the Hoboken Chipper and a young aspirant named Meade for a five dollar note. They sparred four rounds, and it was gwiden that there was bad blood between the mon. The Clipper seemed excited, but he was more than a match tor his younger speponent. They bored each other to the ropes, each round ending by either one or the other being thrown. When the contest was over, which was calited a draw, so the meader of the chartenedy.

During the progress of the fight large sums of money were staked, and the interest in the battles was eager. No disturbance occurred, and at the close the assemblage broke up in an orderly and quiet manner.

So matters stood until the eighth inning, when the Chelseas added three runs to their score, and, allowing the picked nine to make one run in the last inning, they came out the victors by the score of 9 to 6. The Chelseas were short the services of Beach, third base; Rule, pitcher; Chare, catcher; Bunne, first base, and Hayes, fielder; but their places were acceptably filled by Clack, of the Chelmantis; Roche and Metcalf, of the Louisville Eagles, and Fleat, formerly of the Atlantics. Of the play on the occasion Kennedy's catching was the feature, while Roseman, of the T. B. F. U. S. Club, of Bridgeport, did some excellent work on first base. Roche, Fleet, Raskin and Hourgan shared in the honors too, though, in view of its being their first game, all did unusually well. The game was witnessed by several hundred spectators, who frequently gave expression to their interest by applauding the various good plays made by either side. The umpiring of Mr. McCormacs was excellent.

Mr. Dittenheefer said that owing to Mr. McDonnell's absence the case could not be proceeded with, though he and his associate counsel were quite ready and willing to go on at once. "I feel entirely convinced," said counsel, "that our clients can and will be fully vindicated after an examination in this matter, and I am anxious that it take place as specifly as possible."

Justice Duffy said he wished to give the earliest possible hearing to the case, but if an adjournment was

There arises a difficulty, nevertheless, in comparing George Washington, when "long" of the country's des tinies, with stock jobbing operators who get "long" of the market.

Night and day could not be more unlike. The first was all purity and truthfulness, the latter are smudged in reputation and inherit on the paternal side from their ancestor, who is cited as the father of prevarica

If Washington engineered a sharp corner on the British it was in the course of logitimate wartare; if Taurus of the Stock Exchange essays a squeeze he has recourse to all the trickery of "points," "puts" and false intelligence. There is nothing in common between the two, and the endeavor to liken Jay Gould bulling Union Pacific to the Father of His Country bulling the prosperity of the United States is an

The grand bull movement, pushed on by the great general and statesman of the day and his successors, did not reach its present enviable position without meeting many a set-back and rebuff. The bear influence was manifested in the hardships of Washington's campaigns, in the war of 1812 and in the internecine strife of later years. Still, the movement fostered by him the anniversary of whose birth we celebrate to-

It is no tissue paper stock that, as a nation, we offer to the world, but a security founded upon faith, honor and energy. The national credit has advanced, no under the influence of cooked reports and washed sales, nor has it been advanced for the purpose of sell ing out at higher prices, but is simply held as an eligi ble dividend-returning security to all investors.

It is only just, then (to say nothing of the acc panying satisfaction), that the nation should set apart one day in the year in commemoration of the great engineer of our country's prosperity-a man who set going the greatest upward movement in public affairs of any of his peers, and did so without recourse to chicanery or fraud.

The recurrence of Washington's Birthday affords an opportunity for reviewing the financial situation and sidering the problem whither are we drifting. Not a few of us hailed the advent of the New Year as a harbinger of a new prosperity. It was to be the "Centennial" of the nation's birth, and around it there was supposed to be some mysterious power that would fur nish the people with a sure baim for all their recent trials. On the Stock Exchange this sentiment, feeling, belief, or whatever it may be called, was warmed and nursed into a speculative life that readily and with a hearty good will has undertaken to discount the anticipated benefits which the country is to derive. Cliques one after another, were formed to buy different stocks. and, responsive to the purchases thus made, prices gen erally have materially advanced. A BRIEF REVIEW.

	Justice Duffy said he wished to give the earliest possible hearing to the case, but if an adjournment was required he would assign a day that would suit the convenience of counsel. Judge Dittenhoefer here made a preliminary motion, which, however, he did not desire to press, that the case against his clients should be dismissed, as the warrant under which they were arrested indicated no offence. It stated, said counsel, that the defendants had made false and fraudulent statements, but nothing was mentioned in reference to false oaths. Justice Duffy remarked that he would keep that point in reserve, but observed that, as the accused were arrested under the law of 1857, there was no force in counsel's objection. It was then agreed to adjourn the examination until the 1st of March, at Yorkville Police Court. Bail was fixed at $5,000 in each case. The sureties were William H. Lee, of No. 24	nish the people with a sure baim for all their recent trials. On the Stock Exchange this sentiment, feeling, belief, or whatever it may be called, was warmed and nursed into a speculative life that readily and with a hearty good will has undertaken to discount the anticipated benefits which the country is to derive. Cliques, one after another, were formed to buy different stocks, and, responsive to the purchases thus made, prices generally have materially advanced. To what extent and how, with few exceptions, the speculation has embraced all, from the sound dividend paying shares to those hopelessly worthless, is shown in the subjoined table of closing prices yesterday and on December 31, 1875, as follows:—

have been; yet, with the exception of Western Union which has sold at 80%, and been adversely affected by special causes, the decline that has taken place from the highest figures is no more than might be fully accounted for by a natural realizing of profits before a holiday. Thus far the speculation has been all on the side of "buying," for the very good reason that at no time has there been a sufficient market to permit the principal holders to successfully unload and when the have partially done so it has every time been necessary that they should immediately buy back in order to pre vent a serious break in prices. Therefore the market is "cliqued" to a dangerous extent.

year already gone THE VERDICTS OF BUSINESS MAN of all classes are more unanimous than ever before and the complaints of dull and unsatisfactory markets are more serious. So that in real business prosperity the "Centennial" as yet has failed in all the promises of its self-elected sponsors. There were at the beginning of the year a few old fogy conservatives who agreed with the HERALD in doubting if the great show at Philadel phia could successfully counterbalance the evils of an unsettled financial policy on the part of the government, accompanied by the tremendous losses that the country had been compelled to sustain during the past two years, and dolefully shook their heads at the young enthusiasts of the Stock Exchange and their p pieces in the public journals. Old merchants failed to discover or understand how a people who were refraining from buying their goods because they could not pay for them were so suddenly to become able to take a month or two of holiday and pay the necessary piper in the shape of railroad and hotel bills. Yet it is possible this miracle may be seen, because with the propounders of the new financial ethics, embracing the principle that the way out of debt is to first double it, all things should be possible. But until it is accomplished there will be doubting Thomases who will continue to look at the present speculation on the Stock Exchange as a perpetual menace to the legitimate interests of the country, because they will refuse to see in it anything but the wild capers of a few ambitious and
